*On December 10th, 2009 Governor David A. Paterson announced that, effective immediately, H1N1 flu vaccine may be made available to all New Yorkers who want to be vaccinated, including those who are not in the initial target groups established by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Accordingly, consistent with the Governor's declaration, Albany County is now making the 2009 H1N1 vaccine available to all Albany County residents aged 6 months and older.

Additional clinics will be held for County residents as more vaccine becomes available. For more information, go to www.albanycounty.com/health or call the Albany County Flu Line at 518-447-4505.
